formation

The American Industrial Hygiene Association was established in 1939 by leading industrial hygienists. The first meeting was held in Cleveland, Ohio.

OBJECTIVES

The objectives of the Association, as stated in the Articles of Incorporation, are:

1. To promote the study, evaluation, and control of environmental stresses arising in or from the work place, or its products, in relation to the health or well-being of workers and the public.
2. To increase the knowledge of industrial and environmental health through interchange and dissemination of information and to bring together persons interested in the various phases of industrial and environmental health.
3. To promote the profession through the encouragement of interest within and cooperation with governmental, industrial, educational, and other professional bodies.

DEFINITION OF INDUSTRIAL HYGIENE

Industrial Hygiene is that science and art devoted to the recognition, evaluation and control of those environmental factors or stresses, arising in or from the work place, which may cause sickness, impaired health and well-being, or significant discomfort and inefficiency among workers or among the citizens of the community.

DEFINITION OF AN INDUSTRIAL HYGIENIST

An industrial Hygienist is a person having a college or university degree or degrees in engineering, chemistry, physics, medicine, or related physical and biological sciences who, by virtue of special studies and training, has acquired competence in Industrial Hygiene. Such special studies and training must have been sufficient in all of the above cognate sciences to provide the abilities (1) to recognize the environmental factors and to understand their effect on man and his well-being; (2) to evaluate, on the basis of experience and with the aid of quantitative measurement techniques, the magnitude of these stresses in terms of ability to impair man's health and well-being; and (3) to prescribe methods to eliminate, control or reduce such stresses when necessary to alleviate their effects.

DEFINITION OF "PROFESSIONAL" INDUSTRIAL HYGIENIST

A Professional Industrial Hygienist is a person possessing either a baccalaureate degree in engineering, chemistry or physics, or a baccalaureate degree in a closely related biological or physical science from an accredited college or university and who also has a minimum of three years of industrial hygiene experience. A completed doctorate in a related physical, biological or medical science, or in related engineering, can be substituted for two years of the three-year industrial hygiene experience requirement. A completed master's degree in a related physical or biological science, or in related engineering, can be substituted for one year of the three-year requirement. Under no circumstances can more than two years of graduate training be applied toward the three-year period.

While this definition does not include certification, the American Industrial Hygiene Association recognizes the need for such certification by every professional industrial hygienist as an appropriate hallmark by one's peers and strongly urges all eligible members to obtain American Board of Industrial Hygiene certification.

MEMBERSHIP QUALIFICATIONS AND TYPES

Membership in the Association shall be open to persons who are engaged in industrial hygiene activities and such other persons or organizations as may be provided in the Bylaws (See Article II). There shall be no limitation or discrimination because of race, creed, sex or color. Approval by two-thirds of the Board of Directors is required for election to all classes of membership.

The classes of membership are: Student, Affiliate, Association, MEMBER, Emeritus, Honorary and Organizational. Applications for membership may be obtained from the office of the Managing Director.

Any organization may apply for Organizational Membership.

Application for membership in a Local Section should be made in writing, and must be sponsored by two members of that Local Section.

accredited laboratories (197)

(As of 9/13/82)

The following laboratories have been accredited under the Laboratory Accreditation Program of the American Industrial Hygiene Association.

Those marked by a bullet (•) accept samples on a fee basis.

Proficiency testing is an integral part of the American Industrial Hygiene Association's laboratory accreditation program and is fulfilled by the laboratory's participation in the NIOSH Proficiency Analytical Testing Program (PAT). This program presently includes bimonthly samples for lead, cadmium, zinc, asbestos, silica and organic solvents. (The following solvents are provided on a rotating basis: carbon tetrachloride, benzene, trichloroethylene, p-dioxane, toluene and chloroform.) Accredited laboratories are required to analyze all materials in the PAT Program which they analyze as a part of their routine laboratory operations. The numbers in () indicate analyses in which the laboratory participates. Users should check with individual laboratories for current proficiency status if such information is desired.

1. Lead
2. Cadmium

3. Zinc
4. Asbestos

5. Silica
6. Organic solvent
